Raghuram G. Rajan is Eric J. Gleacher Distinguished Service Professor of Finance at the University of Chicago Booth School of Business. He served as Chief Economist at the International Monetary Fund between 2003 and 2006. He has worked as a consultant for the Indian Finance Ministry, World Bank, Federal Reserve Board, Swedish Parliamentary Commission, and various financial institutions. Rajan is the author, along with fellow Chicago Booth faculty member Luigi Zingales, of the book Saving Capitalism from the Capitalists. In 2003, he received the inaugural Fischer Black Prize, which is awarded by the American Finance Association for the person under 40 who has contributed the most to the theory and practice of finance. He received his bachelor's degree from the Indian Institute of Technology in Delhi in 1985, and an MBA from the Indian Institute of Management in 1987. Rajan received his PhD from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1991.
